

BEFORE SUNSET PRIMA DEL TRAMONTO

Ali, a young and charming moroccan guy who works as a waiter for Nicetra, old boss of the local criminality, is ready to get married to tris boss's daughter. At the last minute, though, he deserte the ceremony and finds a shelter in the room of a very seedy hotel with Assia, also coming from his country, hopelessly in love with him. They make love and plan to reach the airport together when it's dark, to go far away from that place. Ali is still sleeping, when, suddenly a couple of Nicetras men wake him up rudely. The boss didn't forgive his desertation. Assia is no longer lying near to him because probably she had betrayed him. He starts a troubled runaway, followed by men of the boss, who doesn't have the intention to give up tris revenge.
